

At 29 Adelong Street, lives a girl who loves to ride, it makes her feel free.

She jumps on her bike and follows her mum,
round the streets near the house
where they come from.

They see people's pets, they listen to birds,
they notice big trucks and they stop at the roads.

Now and again, when families are home,
they stop for a chat with the people they know.

At 118 Karingal Street, live a mum
and a dad and two kids under three.

Once a year their half-sister flies out,
from Mexico-way on her school holidays.

It's a long way to come for two weeks at a time,
a whole day on the plane she sits still on her bum.

But when she arrives at her second home,
she gets cuddled and followed wherever she goes.
